AGED COUPLE UNITED IN DEATH; BURIED TOGETHER

Squire Jim Scaff, 77 years old, and grandfather of Ben Rhodes, died at his home in Martin, Tenn., Monday morning at an early hour, and his wife who was the same age, being ill at the same time, died in the afternoon of the same day, says the Wingo Post. The two were buried together in the Howard Graveyard, eight miles from this place, at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The deceased were at one time residents of Wingo, having moved away about fifteen years ago. They spent last summer with relatives here. They have children living, but they are all married.

A remarkable feature in the lives and death of this couple is the fact they played together on a pallet before they were old enough to walk; grew up together as neighbors, and became sweethearts; married at the age of 20 years, and died on the same day and of the same disease—flux. In their later days they often expressed a desire to be called away at the same time. There was a difference of thirty-odd days in their ages.—[Mayfield Messenger.

CURED OF INDIGESTION.

Mrs. Sadie P. Clawson, Indiana, Pa., was bothered with indigestion. "My stomach pained me night and day," she writes. "I would feel bloated and have headache and belching after eating. I also suffered from constipation. My daughter had used Chamberlain's Tablets and they did her so much good that she gave me a few doses of them and insisted upon my trying them. They helped me as nothing else has done." For sale by all dealers. (adv-july)

WOMEN BATHERS WEAR SOCKS AT LONG BEACH.

Listless loungers on the ocean front at Long Beach, Calif., sat up when a half dozen young and shapely women demonstrated the sock fad for bathing suits.

Of course, the girls were pretty. So were the bathing suits. But what made matrons gasp, other girls glare and men stare were the socks—low, revealing shapely knees and held in place by rubber garters.

The daring bather even went to the unnecessary trouble of placing small bunches of flowers to the tops of their socks.

The gallery, which followed them to the water's edge, had eyes for the anatomical display rather than for the floral.

LUKE McLUKE SAYS.

(Cincinnati Enquirer.)

You don't have to do anything or say anything to start a battle in any Happy Home. Mother will happen to read an item in the paper about some woman working to support her husband and she will start sniffing and glaring at Father. And Father will want to know what in Sam Hill's matter, and Mother will snort out that it will be a cold day when SHE works to support any Lazy, Ornerly, No-Account excuse for a man. And Father will go out and slam the door and kick the Welcome sign clear off the top of the door mat.

It has gotten so nowadays that as long as a girl has two big brass bracelets on her arms she doesn't need much of anything on her lower limbs. It isn't only the people who have autos who are always running down their neighbors.

NEW LAW ON BALLOTS.

One of the provisions in the new election law is that all ballots unused in any election instead of being burned as formerly, must be marked by the election officers with a stamp of a certain size and returned to the county with the stub of the ballot book. Each ballot must be marked with a word "unused" that remains after an election. While this will require a little more work on the part of the election officers than under the old way, it will prevent a great deal of crookedness in elections.

COULD NOT STAND ON FEET

Mrs. Baker So Weak—Could Not Do Her Work—Found Relief In Novel Way.

Adrian, Mich. — "I suffered terribly with female weakness and backache and got so weak that I could hardly do my work. When I washed my dishes I had to sit down and when I would sweep the floor I would get so weak that I would have to get a drink every few minutes, and before I did my dusting I would have to lie down. I got so poorly that my folks thought I was going into consumption. One day I found a piece of paper blowing around the yard and I picked it up and read it. It said 'Saved from the Grave,' and told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women. I showed it to my husband and he said, 'Why don't you try it?' So I did, and after I had taken two bottles I felt better and I said to my husband, 'I don't need any more,' and he said 'You had better take it a little longer anyway.' So I took it for three months and got well and strong." — Mrs. ALONZO E. BAKER, 9 Tecumseh St., Adrian, Mich.

Not Well Enough to Work. In these words is hidden the tragedy of many a woman, housekeeper or wage earner who supports herself and is often helping to support a family, on meagre wages. Whether in house, office, factory, shop, store or kitchen, woman should remember that there is one tried and true remedy for the ills to which all women are prone, and that is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It promotes that vigor which makes work easy. The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.
